

Contributions should not exceed 5.000 words or the equivalent lineage, including tables and figures. The title should be brief but informative; if a longer title is needed, please supply a running title of not more than 60 characters. Papers whose language is not Italian or English should also include a summary in English or Italian of not more than 400 words. The font used should be Times New Roman and the articles should be sent in Word or Pages format, double spaced, with margins of not less than 3.5 cm. Pages should be numbered consecutively in the lower right corner.

The author's name and full mailing address should appear under the title on a separate page. The title should appear in bold on the first page of text , with the abstract.

Tables should be double spaced on separate pages, or spaced sufficiently to be distinct in the case of small tables. Diagrams, graphs, drawings and half-tone illustrations should be on a separate page labeled 'Fig.1' and so forth. Each page should carry, at the top, the title of the article. They should be submitted as artwork for photographic reproduction, larger than the intended size. Where more than one figure is submitted, they should as far as possible be in the same scale.

References in the text should cite the author's name followed by the date of publication unless there are more than two authors where only the first author's name should be given followed by 'et. al.'. References should be listed at the end of the paper in alphabetical order by first author, with titles of articles, books and journals given in full, as shown:

Hoffman, L (1981). Foundations of Family Therapy, Basic Books, New York.

Tomm, K. (1999). Co-constructing Responsibility. In S. McNamee, K. Gergen, et al (ed.), Relational Responsibility: Resources for Sustainable Dialogue, Sage, California.

At the end of the article, before the bibliography, brief information about the authors (city and country of work, profession, institutional affiliation, possible titles, exc. ) should be reported.

Copyright: It is the author's responsibility to obtain copyright clearance for any content quoted in their article. Papers are considered on the understanding that on acceptance, copyright of the content is the property of the author, but copyright of the Journal compilation passes to the publishers of the Journal.
